

Where we work

Pace is a collaborative organisation which works in partnership with several statutory and voluntary agencies. We firmly believe that a multi-agency approach is key to tackling child exploitation.

Pace is a leading specialist charity that brings the parent perspective to tackling child exploitation. Our expertise comes from years of experience of working with parents, which is reflected in our training courses and in our approach to multi-agency working.

National parent support for CSE

We provide support to parents through our National Parent Support Service. A parent can phone and speak in confidence to a Support Worker for one-off or ongoing support and advice from anywhere across England and Wales.

Partnerships

We have a number of commissioned partnerships to provide Parent Liaison Officers (PLO's). The Parent Liaison Officers are co-located in multi agency settings in local authority areas to support parents affected by child exploitation and promote best practice in the work of professionals to safeguard children.

Training

We offer training – online nationally and face to face in local areas – to professionals in the police, social care, health and education sectors to increase awareness and support improvement in practice. More about training

Parent befrienders

Volunteers are trained by Pace to provide a further source of ongoing support to parents across England and Wales.
