Stanbridge Earls School

1. The School is described in its Statement of Purpose as follows

[The School] has developed an international reputation for educating children with a range of difficulties including Dyslexia, Dyscalculia, Dyspraxia and mild Asperger's Syndrome [and] can help some pupils with a diagnosis Attention Deficit Disorder ... and Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder where it is professionally believed that the School can help without the education of others being adversely affected...The School will also, occasionally, accept pupils ...who are fragile and vulnerable and who require considerable support and encouragement in a nurturing environment...The School does not provide 24 hour-a-day supervision typical of most 'Special' Schools. Instead pupils enjoy an acceptable level of freedom and trust to enjoy the grounds, the supervision being discreet and sometimes distant...
