Dave Carter and myself met with [RO-A10] today to talk with him about the incidents around Rochdale Bus Station. [RO-A10] was very clingy and uncommunicative for a period of time and didn't really want to talk about the matter and certainly did not want to talk to the police about it. In the end it was decided to rearrange the police interview for the next day and to concentrate on spending time with [RO-A10] to allow him time and space to talk about Rochdale Toilets. In the end [RO-A10] did say that he had been involved with a man at Rochdale Bus Station who apparently worked part time in a cafe nearby. He had a moustache and black hair and was in his early 30s. [RO-A10] admitted that he had got money from him for the naughty things he did with him. Apparently they went to a hut near Shopping Giant car park. Apparently he went on one occasion with [RO-A106]. He also made some suggestion that [RO-A24] may have been involved. These incidents occurred apparently fairly recently within the last two months. He found the whole experience extremely difficult and did not want to verbalise in detail what he actually did although it would seem that he did admit to masturbating the man. Eventually [RO-A10] agreed that he would talk with the police about this. We validated his feelings of anxiety and confusion about the incidents and emphasised that he was not to blame for what had occurred and that the adults concerned were wrong in involving him in these activities. Also thanked him for having the courage to tell us about it. Before we left emphasised to [DPA] that it would be important to monitor [RO-A10] and offer support to him given the nature of our discussions with him.

Met with [RO-A10] at [DPA] and went with him to the NSPCC building. Where we met police officers to discuss the toilet incidents with them. [RO-A10] was prepared to go in the building and sit in the room.
