Knowl View

At a meeting on Friday afternoon with the Chief Executive, David Shipp and the Acting Director of Social Services, the question of the progress of the investigation into recent events was raised. I expressed our concern at what seems to be an undue delay. Social Services however are now questioning the need for an investigation at all and suggesting that it might be done by the Education Department, if required. Mr. Davey has undertaken to review all the papers and proposals during this next week and to let us have his opinion. As soon as it is available to me, I will convene a meeting to consider the next step.
