

Amad. It was a ridiculous graduation.

Ian Ashbar was acting Head - he did a superb job - and acted on info. He was unpopular on teaching staff who I felt had swung the board.

Dave Hinton was I felt brutal - the kids were physically frightened and one had suggested he had been hit with a cricket bat across leg.

Dave was spoken to by Ian.
There was an incident (possibly Brendan faint from Cleans) which Ian suggested should be followed up but LFA didn't seem to agree.

Ian was denied and BOTH was appointed. Ian was an experienced teacher & people were impressed by his handling & conducting as leader of school though he could have been criticized in confid or care staff.

BOTH had superb ideas but he had one flaw - he wasn't direct - he would um and aw. You know staff would manipulate him.

The LFA know he wasn't headmaster material. He
