"I would like to thank Phillip Lafferty and Marise Thomas of Voicing CSA for inviting me to become a director. I have always supported Voicing CSA from the start for one main reason when I saw Phil and the late Nigel Thompson's vision to make change for survivors and empower others to speak out. For those who don't know me personally I had the same vision when a homeless survivor came to live with me. Mickey Summers, and the issues he faced. We campaigned for change and protested together.

I have spoken out for those who were abused (in childhood) but didn't have the strength to speak out for themselves, who were "shut down" by police and councils. I was groomed but had a lucky escape. I didn't suffer the horrors that many of you have but I understand the fallout that this crime does to peoples lives and have everyone's corner when it comes to showing my passion and fighting for you for better rights. I never back down till I get voices heard and changes made and one thing I will promise you all is my commitment for making life casier and pushing for better services

I do have a different approach to some in that I don't butter the subject when talking to officials. I say it as it is and you always get the heart felt truth and my passion for broken people and to empower them to grow. I want councils and police round the table knowing they have to listen or face our actions as we will never back down and we will never be silenced again. I am looking forward to making international change together and thank you for having me on board. I look forward to promoting change."

Let's call it a grooming gang so that the nation remains ignorant to the fact that it is an organised network of child rape and your child could be the next statistic. #CSA #CSE #InquiryCSA

The seriousness of child rape must be understood with the trafficking of children. They are not passed to strangers, they are trafficked to other towns with their own network. It is not grooming gangs it is organised rape
